

Hello Seahorses,

Wow! I cannot believe a month has already gone by until we were in the classroom reading "The Queen's Nose." I have missed you all so very much and have been wondering what kinds of things you have all been doing

I have been very busy doing lots of little jobs to do with school including marking and updating your assessments that you did in the last few weeks. You have all worked so hard and it is showing in all of your pieces of work, particularly your writing. I am really sad that we never got to finish creating our spells with the spell book that we found in the classroom but hang on... perhaps you might like to create some potions for us to stick in there when we are back? If you send them in through the new email address I can have a look and then we can add them in when we are all back together again!

I have been reading lots of lovely new books and also listening to audio stories with Noah and Evelyn. It has been so lovely that we all have spent so much time in our garden creating fairy gardens and planting some seeds. Our potatoes are actually growing quite fast and need weeding today!

Seahorses, I am sending you so much love and virtual hugs and promise that we will have a lot of giggles when we are back together. You just need to keep smiling and remember to do your mindfulness if things get tough. Just imagine we are all sat together listening to the triangle.

Lots of love Mrs Blake xxxx
